TYPE OF CERTIPEDIA ENTRY

TÜV Rheinland Certipedia.
All Services at a Glance.

Certified persons receive a certificate of competence that is highly valued in business and administration. This shows the test mark signet and ID of the qualification and refers directly to details of the certification program.

Certified persons also have the option of using personal test mark signets for advertising purposes. The associated entry on Certipedia shows further information about the person and is linked to details of the certification program.

This gives employers and interested parties a comprehensive impression of a qualification's value and validity as well as the opportunity to make contact with certified persons.
